Serve Democracy: Work in Elections

Elections officials in North Carolina counties are looking for precinct officials for upcoming elections. You can protect democracy, learn how elections work, and get paid in the process!

What Do Precinct Officials Do?

- Staff polling places during early voting and on Election Day.
- Set up and close down the voting enclosure.
- Check in voters and issue ballots.
- Assist voters upon request.

Do You Qualify?

To serve as a precinct official on Election Day, you must be a registered voter or be a high school student who is at least 17 years old and in good academic standing (this does not apply to early voting). Precinct officials may not be a candidate or relative of a candidate in the election. They also may not be an elected government official, hold office with a political party or be a manager or treasurer for a candidate or political party. They also may not serve at the same polling place as a spouse, child, spouse of a child, sister, or brother.

Ready to Lend a Hand?

Please complete the form on the other side. If your services are needed in Randolph County, a county election official will contact you. Filling out this form does not mean you will automatically be selected as an election worker.

Compensation

All poll workers are required to attend 1-2 training sessions that will be around 2-2.5 hours each. For each training session poll workers are paid $25. Pay for each position is based on the job they perform.
